Secretary Mike Leavitt
The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services
200 Independence Avenue, S.W.
Washington, D.C. 20201

Dear Secretary Leavitt,

Last week, President Bush signed a historic piece of legislation, the reauthorization of the President's Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief. This legislation solidifies the United States' position as the world leader in the fight against the AIDS pandemic. It also will remove an anachronistic provision of the Immigration and Nationality Act ("INA") which statutorily declared all non-citizens with HIV inadmissible to the United States. With the end of the statutory ban on HIV, the Department of Health and Human Services ("HHS") now has the authority to end the HIV ban on travel and immigration.

We write to urge you to act swiftly to remove HIV from the list of "communicable diseases of public health significance." As you are no doubt aware, in 1991 and again in 1993, HHS issued proposed regulations seeking to remove HIV along with all other illnesses except for active tuberculosis from its list. HHS was poised to issue final regulations to this effect when Congress amended the INA in 1993 to revoke HHS's discretion to remove HIV from the list.

As HHS determined fifteen years ago, HIV is not transmitted through casual contact and as such there is no public health reason to exclude non-citizens who carry the virus. Recent years have seen extraordinary advances in the treatment of HIV that have transformed HIV disease to a manageable, chronic illness for many.

As the President stated before signing the bill, "I want to speak directly to those around the world who have, or think they may have, HIV: A positive diagnosis does not have to be a reason for shame. So don't let shame keep you from getting tested or treated."

We could not agree more. It is time for the United States to end this vestige of discrimination and stigma against people living with HIV and we call on HHS to carry out the will of Congress and the President and remove HIV from the list immediately.

Sincerely,
